Reno native and last RF-4C Nevada Guard aviator Col. Eric Wade to relinquish command of the 152nd Airlift Wing

By 2nd Lt. Emerson Marcus 152nd Airlift Wing Public Affairs

Col. Eric Wade, the 152nd Airlift Wing's commander since 2017, is set to hand-off command of the unit to Col. Jacob Hammons during a ceremony 9 a.m. Saturday in the Nevada Air National Guard Base fuel cell hangar. Wade, a Reno High and University of Nevada, Reno graduate who entered the military as a member of the 152nd Reconnaissance Group in 1994, is the last remaining RF-4C aviator in the unit. His career highlights the possibilities the unit provides citizens of Nevada and marks the end of an era in Reno. This month, the High Roller News revisits a feature story the public affairs office wrote when Wade took command in 2017.

Reno native takes reins of 152nd Airlift Wing

For Col. Eric Wade, home means Nevada.

However, in 1996, Wade, a Reno High and University of Nevada, Reno graduate, left the sagebrush and the pinyon pine after the 152nd Reconnaissance Group's conversion from RF-4C jets to C-130 aircraft.

Following a decade-long active duty tour overseas, though, he returned, and earlier this month became the 22nd commander of the 152nd Airlift Wing, Reno's hometown Air National Guard unit. Several people, from his mother to longtime friends, gambling in 1931.

employees of Bill Harrah, the nation's largest gambling operator at the time, owner of the Harrah's Club in Reno and Harrah's Tahoe Club. In 1962, Wade's mother, Cindy, started work as the secretary in the research department for Harrah's famed automobile collection. Six months later, Wade's father, Clyde, began work as a mechanic for Harrah. He eventually ran the collection. "Bill (Harrah) sent my dad all over the world," Wade said. "He'd say, 'Hey, there's a 500K Mercedes in London. Go over there and bid on this thing in auction. Your budget is $2.2 million and bring it back.' And my dad would go."

Cindy said she also traveled with Harrah on international business trips and got to know the Reno icon on a personal level.

"Physically, he was a tall man and he had a very reserved demeanor," Cindy said of Harrah. "People were so nervous they'd shake before they would meet with him. I'm not kidding. They were afraid... One thing in 1993 as weapons system officer for the 152nd Reconnais- I liked, I knew he wanted happy employees. I always made sure to meet him with a smile. That was important to him. I admired that."

Both Clyde and Cindy worked there until Harrah died in 1978. Holiday Inn purchased the properties and overhauled business operations in 1980. After Harrah died, Cindy worked for the state and Clyde opened an automobile restoration shop.

High Rollers fly with Navy, other 2019 Haunted Hangars services during Resolute Hunter By Mr. Fred Barton Exercise By Senior Master Sgt. Paula Macomber

152nd Airlift Wing Public Affairs

The 192nd Airlift Squadron participated in Exercise

Resolute Hunter at the Naval Air Station Fallon Range Training Complex (FRTC) from Oct. 21 to 25. The Fallon Naval Air Station (NAS Fallon) and Naval Aviation Warfighting Development Center (NAWDC) are the Navy's premier Weapon Tactics Instructor (WTI) schools and they're located well within flying distance for the High Rollers out of Reno. "This Range complex has some of the most advanced enemy threat emitters in the world," said Maj.

Kyle Carraher, a pilot with the 192nd Airlift Squadron, "and the training is as realistic as you can get. We want to bolster our relationship with the entities in Fallon so we can train smarter and more effectively. This is an extraordinary opportunity to support their objectives while meeting our internal training requirements." CLICK HERE FOR COMPLETE STORY

Fire Dept. News Nevada Air National Guard Fire

Department on "fire" at the Beer and Chili Festival By Senior Master Sgt. Paula Macomber 152nd Airlift Wing Public Affairs

The Grand Sierra Resort and Casino held its annual Beer and Chili festival on October 19th and 20th and the Nevada Air National Guard firefighters walked away winners. Tech. Sgt David Morris and Senior Airman Bryce

Fording took first place in the Firehouse Chili Challenge on October 20th competing in a chili contest against five other local fire departments. The competitors: Reno, Carson City, Sparks, Truckee Meadows, and Story County Fire Departments. Nevada Air Guard's entry into the contest (a recipe by Morris) was chosen as the People's Choice winner meaning that people attending the festival voted that the Nevada Air National Guard Fire Department's chili was the best of all the six fire departments. They won $500.00 to donate to the charity of their choice--Honor Flight Nevada--which helps to bring military veterans to see the memorials in Washington D.C. This is the second time that they have participated in this event and marks the second time that they walked away with the People's Choice award.

October 25, 2019 at the Nevada Air National Guard Base. Adults and Kids dressed up like ghosts, goblins, action heroes and various other very creative Hallowthe "Haunted Hangars" that included bean-bag toss, pumpkin decorating and hay rides. This year's event was attended by the 152nd Airlift Wing Commander, Vice Commander, Group Commanders and Squadron Commanders and 475 Nevada

Air and Army National Guard members and their families. The Nevada Air National Guard Family Programs and the Army National Guard Child and Youth Program could never coordinate an event of this magnitude without support from our local community partners. Special Thanks goes to Northern Nevada United Service Organizations (USO) for donating all the Food, Drinks and 300 pumpkins. Also, a special thanks go to the following supporting organizations: Airlift Wing Morale, Welfare and Recreation group for donating all the candy, Force Support Squadron for cooking all the food, Security Forces Squadron for and parking, SANGA committee members for helping during this event, the New West Distributing, for donating drinks, Reno chapter of the American Red Cross for serving all the food, Blue Star mothers of Northern Nevada, for making popcorn and cotton candy, Military OneSource, Nevada Army National Guard Family Assistance, 152nd Airlift Wing Key Volunteers and numerous Nevada National Guard members and spouses. After the event all the votes were tallied and the following Groups or Squadrons won in the following categories: People's choice: Medical Group. Scariest: Small Air Terminal. Most Creative: Intel Squadron.

Thanks for everyone who participated to make this an exciting, memorable and fun event for all who attended! Another Leadership Learning Opportunity FOUR MORE of John Maxwell's 26 Leadership Nuggets November 2-3, 2019

Honoring our nations: Building strength

Month. It is a time to reflect on the rich and diverse cultures, traditions, and histories of American Indians and Alaskan Natives, the first people of the United States. The theme for 2019 National American Indian Heritage month, as provided by the Society of American Indian Government Employees (SAIGE) is, "Honoring Our Nations: Building Strength Through Understanding" American Indians and Alaskan Natives have served our nation valiantly and with distinction in times of peace and war for over 200 years. They serve at a high rate, with nearly 50 percent of all American Indians and Alaskan Natives in the military serving in the U.S. Navy. The Navy also has the highest concentrakeeping everyone safe and maintaining traffic control tion of female Service members when compared to other ethnic groups. In this year's design, the DEOMI Special Observance team highlighted the names of the 573 federally
