Spiritual preparedness for deployment

By Staff Sgt. Tinna Taylor
152nd Airlift Wing Chaplain Corps

Nevada Air National Guard Commander, Brig. Gen. Ondra Berry, was the guest speaker at the 2nd Annual Prayer Breakfast last month. His advice was, "Feed your faith, and starve your doubts." Be prepared.

Prepare yourself in advance for going overseas. Make sure, to the best of your capacity, that you have a good solid family care plan and that whoever it is that you're leaving behind, is well taken care of and you don't have to worry about anything back home so you can focus on your mission while you're there. Be confident. Help to educate them. Don't be too worried. I've been overseas with coworkers who had children who spoke about how much they missed them. Each September, several sections from the Nevada Air National Guard assist the Reno Air Racing Association during the Reno Air Races. This assistance comes in many different ways: a static aircraft display, a recruiting tent, an air drop demonstration, fire truck support and the presentation of the colors.

This year was no different. The High Rollers came out in full-force. Each day started with a color guard team comprised of Nevada Air National Guard members presenting the colors.

The Airmen are honored to be a part of this great local event that draws crowds from around the world. Color Guard member, Tech. Sgt. Kylea Sherman of the Nevada Air National Guard's 152nd Force CLICK HERE FOR COMPLETE STORY

Senior Airman Jonathan Zbella's family knew his deployment would send him overseas for the holiday season and his 22nd birthday.

So, before he left, his family held "Hallowbirthmasgivingsevetines Day."

"We had a little of everything," said Zbella, a finance customer service support personnel deployed in Southwest Asia. "They served turkey, ham, corned beef and cabbage, spaghetti and macaroni and cheese."

Zbella, along with a third of the entire 152nd Airlift Wing, of Reno, have deployed or are set to deploy this fall and winter to various locations around southwest Asia and Africa. Exact locations, times of departures for personnel assigned will not be released for operational security reasons.

Overall, its largest deployment event in the unit's recent history, said Master Sgt. Michelle Rauch, 152nd Logistics Readiness Squad-

Missing in Nevada: Guard honors unclaimed remains of veterans

Story and photo by Staff Sgt. Garrett Wake
152nd Airlift Wing Public Affairs

BOULDER CITY — Funerals honor the deceased and bring solace to the living.

For military veterans, funerals can include military honors, upon family request.

But what if a person's remains are left unclaimed or there is no family?

Local veterans groups in southern Nevada recently confirmed the veteran status of a dozen unclaimed Nevadans — one soldier left unclaimed for 70 years — during a funeral service Tuesday at the Southern Nevada Veterans Memorial Cemetery here. Members of the Nevada National Guard Honor Guard, along with active duty honor guard members, participated in the ceremony.

It was the second "Missing in Nevada" ceremony held in southern
